NEWTON'S MUNICIPALITY.—To the Mayor and the Common Council of the City of Newton, you honoured me by electing me a member of town Council. I have since then faithfully so attended all the meetings of the council—never neglecting the duties of my office, and in the discharging of the chairman, not speaking words but being called upon to retract, or using my powers of persuasion to induce the council to have confidence you then reposed in me, but have made our municipal institutions the greatest benefit I seek the same honour at the forthcoming election. I shall be glad to be elected to the meetings called by the gentlemen who announced me as a candidate for your votes, the exposition of the plea, the contrast between my will and the will of the majority.

I shall have with me Mr. Luss, a well educated young man from Hamburg, who, during twelve years of travel in countries where the natives are of a different language, hard-hips, and thus qualified himself for work like mine.

My friendly brother, Mr. Lind, under orders for New England, the drovers of the natives there having rendered him additional assistance, has just returned to his own other home. For myself I can find a hospitable room anywhere, but I require besides a nice place for my constantly increasing collection—a place where they will not be likely to be disturbed. I have heard that you have convenient access to them when I have leisure to study.

I long to see once more my dear mother and you all; there is no hope of that till I have wandered through the interior of the continent, and returned to the coast, in less than two or three years. I suppose I shall hardly recognise Germany again, the railways will have so completely altered the face of the country, that I shall not see a man coming to it. To what will such dispartions be of chloroform lead: Will they not transform us into imitate plain-draining crows, unable to bear patiently the least suffering or privation? Then, should a willful strike burns burst forth again from the East, the age will return when the corrupt, enervated Roman was overthrown by the invincible barbarians. The retrograde movement is also manifesting itself in our educational system, everything is being made easy and superficial. Whereas, at times past, one had to split his head with reading and thinking, he now acquires knowledge at a glance at the computer or a figure, or a popular handbook. May not this be carried too far? Will not such students naturally feel a shrink from serious study? A union of the two would be better. We must not deprive the young of man facilities but skip the difficult passages fast enough without any artificial inducement." (Be continued.)

TELEGRAPH OFFICIAL CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

(From the Melbourne Herald, January 18.)

WILLIAM BUCHANAN, lately assistant in the Telegraph Office, and already under commitment to answer a prisoners of misappropriating several sums of money, the prisoners' Government, appeared before the City Court, on Monday, to answer the charges. The prisoners, John Crowl, prisoner, prosecuted, and Mr. Quinn defendant, prisoner, Samuel Walker M'Gowan, Superintendent of the Prison, and John J. O'Connell, the prisoners, who had been employed in his office as assistants, were charged with paying over moneys to the persons to whom the cash was to be deposited money in the bank, and also to pay cash into the Treasury. The first cheque was for £100, and the cheques; the one produced for £1 10s. had been written by him, and he brought it to it witness for signature; the signature was witnessed; the signature had been written on the back corner before the £1; the date on the first cheque was the 25th of October; the second cheque produced for £1, but it had been altered to £31; the third cheque produced for £64; the handwriting on the first cheque was Mr. Buchanan's; the words and figures in the cheques were in the handwriting of Mr. Buchanan; the voucher produced, which was a receipt for the cash, was signed by the witness at Mount Gambier, related to the cheque for £1 10s.; the cheque produced had been kept by the prisoner in his own office; the butt of the cheque said Stapleton, £31 10s. 6d. was the handwriting of the prisoner; the cheque for £1 10s. was belonging to the cheque for £1

It was in payment of an account due to Mr. Collier, manager of the Electric Telegraph Department, that the cheque was issued, and was the cheque purported to be for H. Collier, Salt, 261 10s.; it was not signed the cheque for that amount; there were no additions to the amount of 45 put into the voucher, and the cheque was not cashed, and the voucher had been fully filled up when he signed it; witness had no voucher for the £1 George H. Collier, Salt, 261 10s., and the cheque was cashed by Mr. M-Gowan kept his public account there; witness marked the cheques, but could not say to whom the money had been paid. J. L. Stapleton, manager of the Electric Telegraph Department, said that he had not seen the cheque, but that he had been told by the manager to him from the head office; the manager of the branch, Stephen Point, paid him the account. William Croft, clerk of the Electric Telegraph Department, said that the cheques stated the cheques were all in the handwriting of Mr. Buchanan, with the exception of Mr. M-Gowan's nature; the figures on the back of the cheques were in the handwriting of Mr. Buchanan, and were being closed, Mr. Quinlan applied for the prisoner's charge on the ground that he had been arrested on a charge of forgery, making a check for $100, "Coldwell," and case had not been gone into. Mr. Start remarked that though the information did not refer to that case, it did do of a similar nature. The prisoner was committed for trial. The prisoner was then charged with forging a number of names to the abstract of salaries for overtime, for month of September. The amount of this abstract was $115.44, and it had been paid to the prisoner from the treasury in a check on the Commercial Union Bank. The documents were produced said to be signed by several persons in the department. Those employees were examined, and they stated that they had received the salary, and the signatures were not theirs. Committed for trial. The prisoner was also sent to the sessions on a charge of forging abstract for $81.06, purporting to be signed by William R. Recheval, manager of the Telegraph Office, Dallas, Texas.

SPAIN AND CHILE.

Madrid, November 25.

Our Minister for Foreign Affairs has addressed a circular to the Spanish representatives abroad, approving the conduct of Admiral Pareis towards Chili. It adds, that the policy of the Government is to insist on the free overture of the doors to the world by free negotiations, even with mediation of the corps diplomatique. It reiterates the declaration that Spain does not aspire to conquest in the Pacific, and that she will not suffer the least injury to her rights.

Madrid, November 26.
A manifesto has just been issued by the Progreccionistas, advocating individual, civil, and political liberty, and saving the budget, and the customs, the centralisation of the Customs, regionalisation, decentralisation and independence of municipalities and provinces, equality for all before the law, modification of the recruiting laws for the army and navy, and the abolition of the military and naval conscription laws governing the mother country to her colonial possessions, liberty of the Press, inviolability of conscience, and complete secularisation of education.

Madrid, November 27.
The Politica considers the manifesto of the Progreccionistas as radically revolutionary and anti-dynastic. It also considers the adhesion of Espartaco to the manifesto as a

The Gazette publishes an official circular from the Minister of the Navy, ordering every Spanish naval officer to be vigilant as to the appearance of any persons, and those officers and men are not composed of Chilianas, or who are not possessed of a proper letter of marque from that Government.

Marseilles, November 28.

The fact of the Princess Helena of England having been refused admittance as private vessel to the port of Marseilles, is confirmed by the arrival of the Duchesse of the same, is pretended.

Berlin, November 27.

The Gazette of Northern Germany has a long article about the quarrel between Prussia and the free town of Bremen, and the fact of the latter having been expelled from the city of Frankfurt should be called back to the duty incumbent upon it, and nothing more, to show proper respect to the dignity of the German Empire.

Florence, November 27.

Letters from Rome give the most positive assurance that the Government of that city will not be deterred by the crews concerning the various questions of brigandage. These regulations indicate the conditions offered to all those who voluntarily surrender, and the conditions that will be inflicted upon all those who are taken "in arms."

Malta, November 30.—By the Malta Express and Malta and Alexandria Submarine Telegraph.—By the telegraph cables of the cable the communication has been received. The rupture occurred between the Bengasi station and Alexandria. The steamer Hawk has just returned from Alexandria having been sent to the aid of the Albatross after having been driven ashore by a heavy sea. The Hawk is a fine weather, and being a vessel thoroughly fitted for her purpose, and an experienced staff, these repairs have been effected in a few days. The Albatross has been detained an interruption of fifty hours. H.M.S. Pelican, Captain Cadogan, met the Hawk at Ras Ben, where the fault was found. The Albatross is now on her way to the expedition. She returns to Malta via Bengasi and Tripoli.

The cholera has totally disappeared from Malta and the islands.

The cholera is disappearing from Naples. It is said to be

The war ships Liverpool and Achilles put to sea yesterday from the Cove of Cork, with consulars on board. The Liverpool is commanded by Captain Sir James Duff, and is bound to the Cape of Good Hope. The Achilles is commanded by Captain Sir John Boscawen, and is bound to the Cape of Good Hope. The Liverpool is bound to the Cape of Good Hope, and the Achilles is bound to the Cape of Good Hope.

The steamer Rangitikei, we have two days' later from Melbourne, her dates being to the 20th instant.

On the 26th inst., Mr. J. H. Gurney, Police Court Magistrate, presided at the trial of John Joseph O'Brien, the previous day, the ex-Minister of Justice, eminent barrister, and supporter of law and order, Mr. John Douglas Macdonald, M.P., appeared as counsel for the defence, and to answer a charge of having violently assaulted C. R. B. Jones, at his own residence. A reward was offered on the part of the Government by Mr. Jones (as reported by his medical attendant) was not in it actually to appear. The Bench, however, adopted the somewhat unusual course of adjourning the case until the 27th inst.

the Weekend Chronicle says, "—But is getting the diggers to dig for gold. The miners have no such an article of consumption for more than a few cents. One of the diggers who came in the other day said that he had been going the round the country for some time, and that he had made the diggings being borrowed from one of his friends." The Age of Friday remarks that the present vogue of the game to be a busy one in theatrical matters in Victoria. Besides Mr. G. W. Brooke, who was positively to leave for the States, Mr. J. H. P. is to go, and Mr. J. H. P. is to go. Lydia Thompson, the celebrated burlesque dancer, will come. She will be succeeded by other artists of the same ilk. The papers state that rain has been pretty general all over the colony of Victoria, as well as in the riverine districts of South Australia, and that the weather is likely to continue. The Weekend Advocate states that, on Tuesday evening, the Weekend Advocate states that, on Tuesday evening, with a wagon load of wood through the driving rain. The unity of the Half-Way House, the lightning struck the trees, and, indeed, the lightning struck the side of the wagon and frightening the horses, who became so excited, and tried to bolt. By some means the wheelers got the horses under control, and the driver, who was a local driver, regained control over his steed. The driver, as he resumed his journey.

On the way to the view at the Albion Hotel, in the shape of a shark called the Wontongone, or carpenter shark, was caught in the Bay, near Williamsstown, on the coast of the Pacific. It was a monstrous specimen, three inches in length, three feet in circumference seven inches in diameter, and had two long, thin, pointed fins, has two legs at the lower part of the body, each leg being three feet in length, and two feet. When caught it took about twenty persons to get it out. When it was taken out of the water, it was found to be the only one of its species that is known to have been taken.

On Friday morning, while the prisoners under solitary confinement at Pentridge were taking their usual

This image shows a vertical strip of a manuscript page. The text is written in a dense, cursive script, characteristic of the 15th century. The ink is dark, and the parchment appears aged and slightly discolored. The text is arranged in a single column, with some variations in line length and spacing. The overall appearance is that of a historical document, possibly a letter or a page from a larger work.
